Additional grants may be provided to participants with disabilities to support their special needs.

The grant provided is a contribution and does not cover all expenses incurred during the stay abroad.

The daily grant amount is calculated based on the destination country and duration of stay, as indicated in the table above.

The grant covers accommodation, subsistence, communication, local transportation, and insurance expenses. No additional payments are made for these costs.

Grants are calculated only for days in which academic/training activities are carried out in cooperation with the host institution.

In order to receive daily grant payments, the activities must be documented through signed agreements or participation certificates.

No grant will be paid for days without documented academic or training activity.

Travel expenses are calculated using the “Distance Calculator”.

The distance between the participant's location and the destination is calculated regardless of transit routes.

Local transportation costs are not reimbursed separately and must be covered by the daily grant.

Grants are paid in two installments: 80% before the mobility period and 20% after completion, based on verified documents.

Staff may participate without a grant upon institutional approval, provided that all required documents are submitted.
