Next, I'm remodeling the entire kitchen by putting in new kitchen cabinets, a new counter top, a new sink and faucet, and new linoleum. I'm also going to buy new appliances for the kitchen. I'm also thinking about adding a new addition to the house, which would include a new family room and dining room area. Outside our back door, I am going to build a deck where we can sit, relax, and have barbecues. We will also do some landscaping to the yard to beautify things a little. One final thing I need to do is shingle the roof. The old shingles are falling off in places, and if I don't replace them, I might start having leaks in the house. CHOLESTEROL

There are three leading contributors to heart disease, of which only one can be controlled by change in diet. Unsurprisingly in our time with people eating the wrong kinds of food, it is high blood cholesterol. Needless to say, this should be an eye opener to almost everybody in developed countries in view of the estimate that the number of people who have excessive levels of cholesterol in their blood streams is increasing at an alarming speed.

Cholesterol is a waxy substance found in all animal tissues and it helps to form hormones and to maintain the structure of cells. While most cholesterol is manufactured by the body, some surplus quantities enter the blood through food intake. Foods heavy in saturated fats, such as beef, butter, and whole milk, increase the natural level of cholesterol in the body.

When fatty compounds begin to build up on the walls of arteries, serious health problems are not far away. The deposits gradually narrow blood vessels so much so that at some point the flow of blood to the heart or brain can be blocked. If a clot blocks an artery to the brain, it can cause a stroke. On the other hand, one that blocks an artery to the heart can cause a coronary attack.

98. What is the main idea of the passage?

- a. The main reasons of heart diseases
- b. Having different habits in diet
- c. Major diseases such as strokes and attacks
- d. High blood cholesterol

99. According to the passage, what is the positive outcome of cholesterol?

- a. It narrows blood vessels.
- b. It leads a clot.
- c. It fastens the flow of blood.
- d. It preserves cells and shapes hormones.

100. It can be inferred from the passage that many people in developed countries

- a. are in a risk of sudden acceleration of cholesterol
- b. Watch their diet and exercise
- c. Suffer from heart attack
- d. Are not aware of the increase in their bloodstream
