Eurasia and Eurasianism concepts have not only geographical but also historical, civil, ethno-social and strategic meanings. The Eurasian issues are examined by different experts in different courses. The scientific dimension of this area is important and Istanbul Aydin University Middle East and Caucasus Application and Research Center works to prioritize the Republic of Turkey's external and internal affairs, cultural and economic cooperation and our university's education strategies and tries to consider the matter from a different angle.

The regional conflicts on the oppressed and Muslim peoples of the Middle East and resulting in pitting Muslim against Muslim should not happen in Eurasia. Knowing the content of the book and spreading it around is important in this respect; the Islamic world would not remain as a figurant in this bloody geography if we had concerns about the Middle East issues and have taken measures fifty years ago.

"Anxiety" and "angoisse" are the main causes of suicide. A strong tendency to suicide occurs in the cases of anxiety and angoisse. Excessive excitement and reaction to external factors and social factors trigger the effect of shock. Suicide is considered as an analysis of the will and desire of death in person.

There are individual behaviors that cross the line known as the limit of cultural norm in each society and this situation is called "social deviation." While deviations vary from one society to another, in almost every society it is part of a framework specific to the culture of that society.

The diplomacy of great powers creates great wars rather than great civilizations. Humans who feed on grudge and hatred serve the devil, not the God. Since coming into existence, human race has never reached enlightenment and peace with the help of discord, conflict and arms. Temporary steps taken to save the day haven't been able to create the eternal comfort and peace so far. The mindset which demands blood for blood; pouring more gasoline on a burning fire rather than water has been, unfortunately, the wrong path both yesterday and today. Despite all the scientific and technological developments, human race has also been fabricated into a mass population which lacks value and ethics. In such a climate, truth loses and lies win.

Humans reflect their emotions such as worry, melancholy, pain, fear, joy, happiness and love using different ways of expression. This may sometimes be through painting and sometimes literature. One of the two was always preferred since the oldest ages of human existence in line with talent and taste. It is known that every nation has its own music that touches their heart peculiar to their culture. Similarly, every culture has different forms of music that they have developed over time, each more beautiful than the other. In this respect, Turkish music, though cascading from the very same heart, is evaluated in two different categories as classic and folk.

Turkish caricature has reached a substantial variety of subject and journal. One of the most important journals of the Second Constitutional Era when dozens of caricature journals were published, is Karagoz. Continuing to be published for the first 15 years after the establishment of the Republic of Turkey, Karagoz was a long-lived journal. Reflecting the period of Abdulhamid II during the Ottoman era, the journal satirized the daily life and problems in Istanbul, presented a unique political perspective of its own and narrated the Balkan wars in a very peculiar way following the Second Constitutional Era. On the other hand, its pages were often painted in white, in other words, censured during the Turkish War of Independence.

The real thing is not stability, but mobility. If the smallest part of the matter remains at the same point in a moment for the second time, which is the smallest unit of time, it is in a fixed state. But, if it moves to a second point at another moment, then it means the thing is mobile. This change is called a revolution if the chain in the movement breaks at a point, breaks down, and a new chain movement is initiated.

We, as TARMER, have the duty and responsibility to monitor which of the global change and transformation movements are under the influence of our society. All kinds of social, technological, demographic, political, religious, ethnic, artistic elements that are effective in our society culture are in our area of interest.

If a 5th and 10th year loop coincides for the same anniversary, on the other hand, this importance grows even more, which happened for Mehmet Akif Ersoy, the great Turkish poet. The 75th anniversary of his death was declared the year of Mehmet Akif Ersoy. 90th year played a great role in this declaration besides the 75th year because the year 2011 which was declared as the Mehmet Akif Ersoy year was at the same time the 90th year of the acceptance of the Turkish National Anthem which was also written by the famous poet.

Human is a social creature, and his need for living in societies brings together the need to be administrated which also brings with itself the concept of politics. As the word suggests, politics comes from the polis which is also expressed as "the events related to the state". Unfortunately, the concept of politics in Turkey, after being used in a pejorative way for a long time, has transformed to express conflicting ideas and conflicting benefits since influencing, changing or manipulating the administration also refers to the same political field. This brings with itself the competition between individuals and groups in attaining, keeping or influencing the administration.

In the ancient periods, besides ethnic minorities, women were also neglected and efficiently excluded from the political processes. This exclusion has brought the image of women avoiding politics to this day. Philosophically, if political monarchy is considered to be based on the structure of the family, then since the leader of the family is supposed to be the man, in a similar manner, the leader of a country must be the men. Politics is basically seen as a male activity. Having no place in politics; women were locked at homes assigned with the mere duty of the daily chores of the house and taking care of her husband and children most of the time.
